

Calling all Photographers

Glen Helen is seeking great images for our 2011 Wall Calendar!

The diversity of habitats and wildlife in Glen Helen's nature preserve provides outstanding photo opportunities for photographers at all levels of experience. We invite both first time visitors and long time friends to send us photographs taken in the Glen for a chance to be featured in our 2011 Wall Calendar. We are seeking a variety of images that convey the different moods and seasons of Glen Helen—an iced-over spring, a flower or animal only found at a certain time of year, a lush green meadow on a summer day, a foggy morning sunrise in late fall—anything that captures what is special about Glen Helen throughout the year.

Proceeds from the calendar sales contribute to the continued protection and restoration of the Glen Helen Ecology Institute's 1,000-acre nature preserve and also support Glen Helen's Raptor Center, Outdoor Education Center and Trailside Museum.

The Details:

- There is no entry fee.
- Photographers chosen for the calendar are credited and receive one free 2011 calendar.
- A photographer may submit up to four of their own original images, with horizontal color shots fitting the flow of the calendar the best.
- We require a hard copy print at least 4 x 6 inches for the selection process. The back of each photo must include your name, the title of the picture, and the photo # that corresponds to the one listed on your entry form.
- Hard copies of photographs submitted for review will not be returned to the entrant.
- If your photograph is selected for the calendar, we will need a high-resolution electronic copy of your photograph (at least 3 megabytes), or a slide or negative. Slides and negatives requested at this stage will be returned to you.
- A completed entry form must be included with all entries.

The submission deadline is Monday, May 31, 2010. We will contact you about the status of your entry in the weeks following the contest deadline.
